

Working Together

- Members serve as champions and role models for people living with long term care or supportive services.
- Members learn about research.
- Researchers learn how to incorporate the voice of those with lived expertise into their work.

RESEARCH

Sages in Every Setting is a two year project of the Leonard Schanfield Research Institute at CJE SeniorLife. This project was funded through a Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute (PCORI) Eugene Washington PCORI Engagement Award (7206-CJE).

The Bureau of Sages

A Research Advisory Board

Learn about research, discuss health-related issues, and advocate for what matters to you

What is the Bureau of Sages?

An advisory board made up of people who share their lived expertise as patients or care recipients with researchers and clinicians.

Current Bureaus:

- Bureau of Sages: older adults living in a nursing home.
- Virtual Senior Center Bureau: older adults receiving long term care in their own home.
- Mesulam Bureau: people recently diagnosed with Alzheimer's Disease or other dementia.

CJE SeniorLife is currently developing a new Bureau. We are looking for people who want to make a difference and contribute to improving research.

Would you like to represent the patient voice in research?

Do you wish to help shape research that matters?

Volunteer to join the Bureau of Sages!

Mission: Empowering nursing home community members and stay-at-home elders to learn and collaborate with researchers to advocate for timely, useful studies that matter to them.

Vision: Improved lives for older adults as the result of Patient-Centered research.

Values:

1. Speaking our Language
2. Listening
3. Compassion
4. Mutual Understanding and Respect
5. Sharing Perspectives through Open Dialogue
